

FOR CARRIZAL VICTIMS PASSING

Bodies of Nine Americans
Are Brought to the Border
Thursday.

Escort Later.
Gen. Bell had not expected the bodies to be delivered so early in the morning, and the bodies, which had been detained from Ft. Bliss, as an escort, was not on hand. An impromptu guard was formed, however, from soldiers of the Seventh infantry, camped near the bridge. Part of these marched beside the car, while the remainder stood at attention as it rolled off the bridge upon American soil. Word was immediately sent to Ft. Bliss and the Eighth cavalry was started cityward.

Eight in One Grave.
Eight of the Americans were exhumed from a single grave, the undertakers who brought back the bodies said.
The dead had been gathered from the field of battle and cast into a ditch. This was then filled up. Capt. Boyd, Lieut. Adair and six troopers, with their uniforms, were mixed indiscriminately in the dirt.
The body of the ninth trooper found was located two miles distant from the others. He had been wounded and, apparently, had dragged himself away to die in the gravelly wastes beyond the town.

Mexicans Hostile.
Although the undertaking force that made the Carrizal trip was shown every courtesy by Mexican officials, they said the populace in the vicinity of Villa Ahumada showed considerable animosity. They were not hindered in their work, however, they said.
One of them, O. J. Wilson, recounted the story of the trip as follows:
"We arrived in Villa Ahumada Tuesday afternoon, taking with us metal caskets and wooden covers for 14 men. These were loaded upon a motor truck and we immediately set out for Carrizal."

One Died Alone.
"We did not begin work until Wednesday morning, but our task, although disagreeable, was not hard. We found eight of the bodies in a single grave. The other was located two miles distant. Apparently the dead man had retreated from the fight, lay wounded and had died near the spot in which he was buried."

"Capt. Boyd, Lieut. Adair and six of the troopers occupied the one grave, which was right on the scene of the battle. Their bodies had been stripped and piled into a ditch. This was then filled up."

"Although the bodies were badly decomposed, it was plain that there had been no mutilation of them."

Only One Tag.
"Only one bore an identification tag—that of Lieut. Adair. The other bodies were recovered from Carrizal and Lieut. Adair by their color. The others bore nothing that would give a clue to their identity, although three carried a small identification tag in the pocket of their uniforms. The tag bore the inscription, 'No. 6, R. Troop.'"

"We placed the bodies in the metal caskets and then took them to the field of battle. The bodies were then placed in the caskets and the covers were placed over them."

Carrizal Officers' Courtesy.
"We received a very nice reception in Villa Ahumada. Col. Olancho Ribera of the Carrizal force met us with an escort and took us to the railway station. We loaded the caskets aboard our special train and started them over to Juarez, arriving late last night."

"Wilson said that Mexican soldiers at Carrizal told him admiring stories of the bravery of Capt. Boyd and Lieut. Adair, and that they said they fought the Carrizal battle with the Mexicans to the very death."

MEXICANS ARE

Guaymas, Mex., July 5.—(By radio to San Diego, Calif., July 5.)—Reports today from various districts of the state of Sonora say volunteers sworn in by the state government in expectation of American invasion are being mustered out and are returning to their homes on the strength of official Carrizal statements that the danger of a conflict with the United States has passed.

TO DENY CHARGES MADE BY JORDON

Chamber of Commerce to Meet Tonight to Deny
"Pacifist's" Statement.

A meeting of members of the chamber of commerce and all citizens has been called by the chamber of commerce at 8 o'clock this evening for the purpose of drafting resolutions denying Dr. David Starr Jordan's statement that "border raids will cease when the railroads leave El Paso." This statement appeared in the New York World this morning.

This is declared by officers and members of the chamber of commerce to be a slander upon the city and it is the intention of the meeting tonight to draft strong resolutions denying emphatically that border raids have any connection with El Paso. Denial will also be made that the rail of Columbus was known in El Paso prior to its occurrence and that it was abetted, if not arranged, on the American side to force intervention, as charged by the Washington Post in its comment on Dr. Jordan's statement.

500 TAKE PART IN CELEBRATION

Berino, N. M., July 5.—The celebration held in the R. L. Smith bosque was the largest out of doors affair yet given in the valley. About 500 people were in attendance from El Paso, Las Cruces and every town in the valley. Three calves had been barbecued and this meat, with quantities of buns, pickles, lemonade, ice water and soda pop formed a feast at noon. This is a pretty woodland spot and made a delightful place for such a gathering. Various sports were enjoyed and the day proved a success in every way. East side residents arranged for this celebration.

SCHOONERS ARE SUNK IN STORM

New Orleans, La., July 6.—A report was received in Bay St. Louis, Miss., late today that several small schooners had gone down in the gulf off that point during the storm and that one schooner had aboard a crew of 15.

Hattiesburg reported great damage to growing corn and cotton in that vicinity. Thousands of trees were uprooted in the pine sections, causing heavy losses to lumber interests.

Rodin's Memorial To Whistler, in Triplicate Held Up By World War

London, Eng., July 6.—August Rodin, the famous French sculptor, in a letter to the international society of sculptors, painter and engravers, promises that the memorial to Whistler will be ready for delivery six months after peace is declared.

The subscriptions for this memorial have been sent by prominent people of all nations, and it is only owing to the war that the statue has not already been executed.

The original is to go to Lowell, Mass. "Whistler's birthplace. Another is to be erected on the Chelsea embankment in this city, where Whistler lived for so long. The third is to remain in Paris."

Father of Lieut. Adair Dies Believing His Son Still Alive, Promoted

Portland, Ore., July 6.—Without knowing his son had met death on the Carrizal battlefield, Samuel Adair, father of Lieut. Henry Rodney Adair, is dead today after a lingering illness. His last words were for his son.
"Henry is now a captain," he said. "Henry has received his promotion." Lieut. Adair was to have been made a captain July 1.

Morris Adair, another son, telegraphed to El Paso today asking that his brother's body be sent here. Father and son will probably be buried at the same time.

Samuel Adair was in his 95th year.

STRIKERS WANT INTERVENTION

Ask City to Intervene in Car Strike; Women Rock
Park Street Car.

A petition asking that the city council intervene for the purpose of bringing about arbitration between the striking street car employees and the electric railway company was unanimously endorsed Thursday morning at a meeting of the striking carmen. The petition was signed by numerous workmen of the city and was not drawn up by the recently organized union of the conductors and motormen. It was presented to the city council Thursday afternoon in the city hall. Council adjourned Thursday morning to attend the funeral of W. N. Elliott, a former policeman.

Want Competent Men.

A second petition drawn up by members of the Carmen's union to the council, endorsing its action in creating an ordinance requiring that drivers of jitne busses must be experienced men and familiar with their cars, was also endorsed at the meeting and will be presented to the council this afternoon. The petition recommends that the council pass an ordinance requiring that the employees of the street railway company must be competent in the handling of the cars for the safety of citizens.

Watchful Waiting.
"Everything has settled down to a well organized system now," said Henry M. Walker, leader of the strikers, Thursday morning. "The striking street car men are of course waiting to win the strike, but it will be done simply by arbitration. There will be no violence or force, and in fact that has never been by the strikers themselves. The two petitions will go before the council this afternoon and I believe will be favorably acted upon."

Cars Run Regularly.

Cars are now running on a regular schedule, according to officials of the Electric Railway company Thursday morning, although the service is slightly lessened during the night. No violence of any kind was reported to the police Wednesday night, except for a number of stones thrown by women on Alameda avenue. The stone struck the side of the Park car and did not do any material damage. No one was struck, both the motorman and the conductor escaping injury. No arrests were made.

A report reached the police station Wednesday night that a car had been "ditched" in Juarez by Mexicans, but it was later found to be groundless.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS

THE UNIQUE.
Marguerite Snow, the charming and gifted Metro star, and William Nigh, the versatile actor-director, will be seen the special attraction Friday, Saturday and Sunday in "Notorious Gallagher," one of the most novel five part features ever produced for the Metro program. The story is a disaster novel, and it is treated in masterly manner under the direction of Mr. Nigh.

Crowded action and suspense has been crowded into this picture than one finds in half a dozen ordinary features. "Notorious Gallagher" is a production that you will see after your friends tell you what a great picture it really is.

There is an unusually strong supporting cast which includes Robert Elliott, Martin J. Faust, R. A. Bressie, David Thompson, Frank Montgomery, Victor Kibicki, George Griffiths and Florence Vincent.—Adv.

"A SIREN OF THE JUNGLE."

Margaret Gibson, William Clifford and the lions from the Hootch mechanism will be seen today at the El Paso in "A Siren of the Jungle," one of the Mutual's thrilling animal dramas. Ben Turpin, the eccentric comedian, appears in a slapstick comedy, "The Iron Mitt."

Tomorrow "New York" will play a return engagement. This is the screen version of A. L. Wood's big stage production. It is a story of night life in New York. It is filled with big scenes. One of the most picturesque is night on Broadway, "The Great White Way." Thousands upon thousands of lights are seen. There are views behind the scenes of the Republic theater when a large chorus is working; glimpses of the famous "lobster palace," several dances by the "Follies" girls; a dinner given to chorus girls in costume, etc. It is one of the most elaborately staged pictures that has ever been brought to El Paso.—Adv.

THE MAJESTIC.

Regardless of the president's Mexico policy, you should attend Eddy O'Brien's new picture, "The Majestic." You will enjoy them.—Adv.

DR. C. F. BRADEN DIES THURSDAY

Transfusion of Blood Fails to Save Red Cross Secretary's Life.

Transfusion of blood from one of his fellow physicians failed to save the life of Dr. C. F. Braden, who died Thursday morning at 2 o'clock at a local hospital after an illness of 15 days. His death was caused by ulcers of the stomach.

The blood transfusion occurred Wednesday night when three ounces of blood was taken from Dr. E. J. Cummings and injected into Dr. Braden's arteries in a desperate effort of his medical associates to save his life. He failed to rally, however, and his death followed early Thursday morning.

Secretary of Red Cross.

Dr. Braden was one of the most active members of the El Paso medical fraternity. He was secretary of the El Paso chapter of the Red Cross and, through his efforts, first aid classes, bandages, committees and other practical relief work was undertaken. He was also secretary of the El Paso County Medical society and of the Fraternal Brotherhood. He was a member of the Eagles, Modern Woodmen and other lodges in El Paso.

Dr. Braden was a native of San Antonio, Texas, where he has a sister, Mrs. M. B. Baker, and three brothers, Joseph, Martin and Henry. Dr. Braden is survived in El Paso by his widow and two children, a boy and a girl.

Wanted To See Dr. Stevenson.

One of the pathetic incidents of his death was Dr. Braden's desire to see Dr. Herbert E. Stevenson, his associate for nine years, before he died. Dr. Stevenson is now a major in the Texas national guard and is at the front with his battalion and was unable to come to the bedside of his professional associate and close personal friend.

Funeral services for Dr. Braden will be held at the chapel of McBean, Simmons & Hartford at ten o'clock Friday morning and will be attended by the Medical society in a body, by the officers of the Red Cross and city officials. The pallbearers will be: Dr. E. J. Cummings, Dr. E. B. Carpenter, Dr. B. F. Clutter, Dr. G. W. Wesley and Dr. W. W. Waite. The funeral service will be in charge of Rev. Miles Hanson and the burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

"Harmless" Sparkler is Cause of Little Girl's Death; Only 4th Victim

Death claimed its only fourth of July victim at 4:30 Thursday morning when little Virginia Cole, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cole, 2611 Illinois street, died from burns received when a "sparkler" set fire to her dress and burned her hands and body.

Little Virginia, with her brother and sister, was playing across the street with some neighbor children. "Sparklers" which are claimed to be harmless, when a spark struck her dress, flashed into a blaze and before her father and others could reach her she was fatally burned.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence and the burial was in the Masonic plot in Concordia cemetery. The Peak Undertaking company was in charge of the funeral.

Police Escort Body of Patrolman To Last Rest

Forty-five members of the police department headed by police chief R. J. Zabrickie, honored the memory of W. N. Elliott, one of the oldest members of the force, who died several days ago Thursday morning at the Trinity Methodist church at 10 o'clock. Forming a squad of honor, 21 members of the traffic and detective departments escorted the body through the business district to Magoffin avenue, nine mounted patrolmen preceding the procession to Concordia cemetery, where interment was made. Body was escorted from the Peak Undertaking company on Texas street to the church, by the officers, headed by Capt. Lee Hall and Capt. Claude R. Tinsman. The mounted men at the head of the funeral procession were commanded by Sgt. Tom Armstrong.

DR. R. F. WILLIAMS, FORMERLY OF EL PASO, DIES IN RICHMOND

Dr. Robert F. Williams, formerly of El Paso, died at Richmond, Va., June 14, after an illness of several months. It was learned here Thursday.

Dr. Williams practiced here from 1897 until 1912, when he left El Paso to take charge of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Catonsville, Virginia. Shortly after coming to El Paso he built his home at 1005 East Rio Grande street.

From the Virginia State sanatorium he was called to the university of Oklahoma while studying at Missouri and Stanton streets, waiting for a street car. She was carried into a house on the corner and later taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Kezer came to El Paso 15 years ago and until 1912 operated a floral

6 MORE ARRESTS IN MURDER CASE

Robins Admits Hitting Messenger Boy Who Called Him Name, He Says.

Six young men, ranging in age from 15 to 23 years, were arrested Wednesday afternoon and night by city detectives and are being held in the county jail on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Joseph Kissell, a messenger boy, at Seventh and El Paso streets, last Saturday night.

Says He Struck Boy.
Robins, in a statement to a Herald reporter while in the city jail Wednesday afternoon, admitted striking Kissell, whom he claimed lured into him and used a vile name. "I struck him on the chin and I then saw him fall," said Robins. "I did not know that I hit him hard enough to kill him, as when Kissell was picked up he was conscious. The boys did not know who was chasing them or we would have stopped. I am the only man that hit Kissell, the other boys not having anything to do with it."

A hearing was set by Judge James M. Weaver at 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning, but owing to the non-appearance of witnesses, it was postponed until this afternoon.

125 CONGRESSMEN SIGN PETI- TION APPROVING INQUIRY PROPOSED BY CATTLEMEN.

Washington, D. C., July 6.—Representatives of beef packers and cattle producers were given further hearing today before a house committee considering the Borland resolution for a federal trade commission investigation to determine whether the so-called beef trust has violated federal anti-trust laws.

Representative Borland filed a petition which he told the committee was signed by 125 members of congress urging approval of the resolution as a matter of extreme importance to livestock interests.

He also submitted a statement arguing that a few great packing houses control cattle slaughter, the markets in great livestock centers, stock yards, terminal facilities, feed lots and transportation lines, the companies which lend money to farmers for feeding and fattening cattle, and subsidiary activities like cottonseed oil mills, cold storage plants and great retail and distributing markets.

He said the packers purposed controlling export prices by building packing houses in South America and Australia.

Packers Protest.
Representatives of the packers declared an investigation would upset the present beef market.

"People would quit eating meat and for vegetarian clubs," said attorney W. B. Borders, of Chicago, representing Nelson Morris and company. "There isn't any business in the world so sensitive to public opinion. Aftiation and notoriety mean that meat consumption would be cut down enormously. It would hurt the cattle raisers, too."

Clashes Small.
Representative Nelson suggested that popular suspicion regarding packers' business methods might be allayed by an investigation.

Statistics were presented by the packers to show that profits are on a very small margin. Representatives of Armour and company submitted a statement that its profits for a year averaged only $1.15 per head for each animal slaughtered before deducting interest on bonds, loans and taxes.

Arthur M. Jeeves, general manager of the Armour company, suggested, as an alternative remedy, inquiry by the department of agriculture.
